

Name _____

A conjunction joins words and clauses.

Example: Roses can be yellow or red.
The word 'or' is a conjunction.

There can be more than one conjunction in a sentence.
Example: Red or green, but not blue.
The words 'or' + 'but' are conjunctions.

Underline the conjunctions in each sentence.

1. There are many flowers here but no weeds.
2. If you come, I will pick flowers with you.
3. Will you pick roses or daisies?
4. Maybe roses but not daisies, and not lilies either.
5. When are you coming?
6. I will come at six or seven but not at eight.
7. The pink ones are nice but the red ones are better.
8. Pull the weeds but not the flowers when you weed.
9. The garden will look pretty if she does a good job.
10. Joe and Sue will help but Carl will not help if he does not get paid.
11. Should I pay Carl if he comes?
12. You could pay him but you should pay Joe and Susan too.

