

Australian fur seal

Read the story.

Fur seals are found in Australia's southern waters.

They can move on land and are able to walk and climb on rocks.

They must come up out of the water for air.

When diving, their ears and nostrils close.

They are warm-blooded and suckle their young.

Underline the words that should begin with a capital letter.

fur seals are found in australia's southern waters.

they can move on land and are able to walk and climb on rocks.

they must come up out of the water for air.

when diving their ears and nostrils close.

they are warm-blooded and suckle their young.

Draw a picture of a fur seal family on the back of this sheet.